

TACL Image Release Permissions Form

<Today's Date>

<Recipient Name>

<Organization/Institution>

<Street Address>

<City, State, Zip>

Dear <photographer, artist, etc., i.e., copyright holder of image/photo requested>:

I am writing for permission to reprint the following <image, photo, etc> which I would like to include in my article entitled <article title> to be included in a forthcoming issue of Transactions of the Association for Computational Linguistics, published by The MIT Press.

<Image or photo or figure requested>

Full credit and acknowledgement will be given for the use of this material.

MIT Press requires a non-exclusive worldwide license to publish the material in all media solely in its context within the article. MIT Press is also responsible for the dissemination of Transactions of the Association for Computational Linguistics and its contents in various ways. It has standing agreements with educational photocopying, database, and abstract and indexing services which reach many people and institutions that do not necessarily subscribe to Transactions of the Association for Computational Linguistics. Some of these agreements also encompass document delivery and electronic reproduction and distribution of journal articles. You will retain the copyright for the illustration(s) in all versions of the Article, but because it is virtually impossible to remove illustrations from text in many of these contexts, please understand that the images you are permitting me to use will accompany the text of my article when it is disseminated in these manners. However, we will at no time license any of your images separate from the article, and we will endeavor to forward to you any requests we may receive for such licensing.

Please note that Transactions of the Association for Computational Linguistics is published as an open access journal in electronic format under a CC BY license.

A release form is provided for your convenience. We would appreciate any waiver or reduction of any permission fees as the publisher is a non-profit organization. If you are not the correct copyright owner, or additional permission is required, please provide detailed information as to whom we must contact.

Sincerely,

<Requestor's Name>
